150 WOMEN TO ATTEND O.F.W.C. MEET AT LIMA

Large Delegation from Marion Expects To See Election of Mrs. W. N. Harder

WILL OPEN TONIGHT

Entire Club Plans To Make Trip from Here Wednesday

BY EDNA S. DUTTON
Star Staff Writer

Approximately 150 club women of this city will journey to Lima this week to attend all or a part of the sessions of the thirty-second annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs which will open tonight with the president's dinner at Hotel Barr.

Perhaps the largest attendance of any day of the convention will be on Wednesday when the biennial election of officers will be held and in which Marion club women are particularly interested. Mrs. W. N. Harder, of this city, vice president-at-large of the state organization, and widely-known club woman, will be a candidate for the office of president and it is expected that a large delegation of Marion club women will be present on that day. Members of the Women's Club, of which Mrs. Harder is a member, plan to attend the convention in a body on that day. Mrs. Harder's charming personality and interest in the promotion of club activities have made her a decided favorite in club circles throughout the district and state as well as in this city where she is regarded as a leader of ability and talent.

Among Marion club women leaving today for Lima were Mrs. Harder, Mrs. Lewis Uhl, president of the Marion Turn to Page 7

COTTON MILL STRIKE GOES INTO EFFECT

More Than 26,000 Operatives Walk Out After Wages Are Reduced

New Bedford, Mass., April 16—A general strike of cotton mill operatives went into effect here today.

The strike, which involved 26,888 operatives, was in protest against a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages in the 27 cotton mills. Reports were that the strike was 100 per cent.

The payroll of the mills last week was about $500,000 making the 10 per cent cut in the pay of the operatives approximately $50,000 a week.

Similar wage reductions have already been made in textile mills in Lowell, Lawrence, Fall River and in Rhode Island.

Good order marked the first hours of the strike.

A majority of the operatives quietly went to their looms and benches, placed their tools in their kits and departed for their homes.

Twenty-seven corporations with 56 mill units were involved in the strike. The number of spindles idle was 2,621,188 and the number of looms silent 50,997.

First Community Concert Provides Enjoyable Hour for Local Audience Sunday

Marion Theater Partly Filled by Crowd Attending Opening Number of Three Musical Programs Planned by Lecture-Recital Club

BEFORE an audience that half filled the Marion Theater yesterday afternoon the first of a series of three community musical programs was given under the auspices of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club. The club annually gives these concerts as part of its civic program.

Yesterday's entire program, which lasted an hour, was delightful. It was a varied program, with piano numbers, a reading, vocal solos and a group of hymns by the quartet of the First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Mary Heininger played two piano numbers. Poldini's "Dancing Dolls" and Sinding's "Marche Grottesque," both well executed. Miss Elizabeth Kenan was the other piano soloist, giving a pleasing interpretation of Rubenstein's "Barcarole."

Given Reading
"The Lost Word," by Van Dyke, was the reading of Miss Ula McNamara. In this reading Miss McNamara revealed an abundance of dramatic talent.

The Presbyterian Quartet is composed of Miss Margaret Brickman, soprano of Columbus, Miss Ruth Henderson, contralto of Bucyrus, V. C. Smith, tenor, and Harwood Taylor, both of Marion. Misses Brickman and Henderson were both heard to excellent advantage in solos, the former in Hamilton's "Beside Still Waters" and Miss Henderson in Scott's "Come Ye Blest."

The quartet appeared in three numbers, "The I Love You," by Van Dyke, "The I Love You," by Van Dyke, and "The I Love You," by Van Dyke.

All three of these numbers revealed the quartet in the most pleasing manner.

Mrs. Henry V. Thompson, accompanist, was at the piano, and the entire program was a most enjoyable one.

Don't Worry, Is Advice of Copeland As He Recalls Death of Late Senator

WASHINGTON, April 16—The late Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican of Ohio, was "killed by worry" over the fight made in Ohio against his presidential candidacy, Senator Royal S. Copeland, Democrat of New York and health expert, declared today in a radio speech in which he broadcast a health code for men in public life.

Copeland warned statesmen, politicians and public officeholders not to worry if they wish to live. The six principal faults of men of affairs, Copeland listed as: over-eating, under-sleeping, getting too little exercise and sunshine, living too much in bad air, taking too little recreation and worrying.

Copeland said, "With a total membership of 90, this makes a mortality rate much greater than is shown by any other group of men of the same average age."

Copeland said the "bad air" in the Senate was in part responsible for this death toll but that "worry" helped to shorten the lives of most of the victims. He pointed out how Senators Warren, Republican of Wyoming, Simmons and Overman, Democrats of North Carolina, Swanson, Democrat of Virginia, Borah, Republican of Idaho, Curtis, Republican of Kansas, and Watson, Republican of Indiana, had spent from 15 to 35 years in Congress under the same conditions. He explained their vitality by declaring they did not worry.

"Unfortunately, Senator Willis belonged to the worrying class," Copeland added. "The cheerful smile he had for his friends was not in his heart when he faced personal

13 BURNED TO DEATH AS FIRE SWEEPS HOUSE

Mother and Six Children Among Victims; Others Belong to Wedding Party

Blairfour, Pa., April 16—Thirteen persons, a mother her six children and six wedding guests were burned to death shortly after midnight today when fire swept the two-story frame home of Ambro Krepachalk, a Slavish worker in this little quarry settlement.

Van Verbonitz, 10, whose marriage to Ann Krepachalk was celebrated on Saturday, met death with his bride in the flaming building.

The dead: Mrs. Ambro Krepachalk, 35; Sara Krepachalk, 15; Michael Krepachalk, 12; Verna Krepachalk, 13; Fathier Krepachalk, 11; Nicholas Krepachalk, 7; Van Verbonitz, 10; Ann Verbonitz, 13, his bride; Carl Chisom, 31; Thomas Horchick, 43; Peter Verbonitz, 28; brother of the groom; Joseph Reubolich, 31; and George Krepachalk, 6.

The fire, which was believed to have started at midnight, swept the frame dwelling before the family and guests could escape. All apparently were suffocated, according to Coroner Chester C. Rothrock, and the bodies were charred almost beyond recognition.

The bodies were removed to the morgue at Williamsburg.

According to F. M. Nisely, chief clerk at the Blair Limestone Co., which maintains quarries at Blairfour, only the Blairfour Fire Department responded to the alarm, and they were too late to check the roaring flames.

He said that the wedding, which took place Saturday, was a quiet affair, and that apparently a party followed on Sunday. It was thought the guests and the bride couple had planned to remain over night.

MAN IS KILLED

Dozen Firemen Injured in Atlantic City Hotel Blaze

Atlantic City, N. J., April 16—One man was killed and at least a dozen firemen and hotel guests were injured in a blaze that destroyed the Iroquois Hotel here early today.

The dead man, as yet unidentified, is believed to have been a guest of the hotel.

GOES TO FLIERS

"DUKE" SCHILLER

Lake St. Agnes, Que., April 16—After making a spectacular flight through a driving snowstorm in order to be the first to reach the three marooned transatlantic fliers, "Duke" Schiller, famous Canadian pilot, and Dr. Louis Cusnier, French flying ace, were at Greenely Island today, ready to bring them back to civilization.

St. Clairsville, April 16—Four hundred high school pupils here who went on "strike" this morning following resignation of J. H. Eris, principal, last Saturday when he was charged with a number of petty burglaries, will return to their classes this afternoon, according to announcement of the Board of Education here, that they had reached a compromise with the students. The "strike" proved to be short-lived after George Thornburgh, president of the Board of Education, said that a public hearing would be granted Eris and that he would dismiss Frank Shepherd, the youth whose confession to burglaries implicated Eris, until the trouble was settled.

St. Clairsville, April 16—The 400 high school pupils here who went on "strike" this morning following resignation of J. H. The "strike" proved to be short-lived after George Thornburgh, president of the Board of Education, said that a public hearing would be granted Eris and that he would dismiss Frank Shepherd, the youth whose confession to burglaries implicated Eris, until the trouble was settled.

High Society Fads and Foibles Enigma To Western Onlookers in New York

SOCIAL luminaries high in the ratings of Park Avenue's best, are permitting their names and photographs to be used for advertising.

Cigarettes, mattresses, furniture, automobiles, everything, in fact, from flash reducers and hair restorers to patent lighters and refrigerators, blazes forth in advertisements signed by Social Register four-star names.

This recent fad though a profitable one to the donors of the signatures was created by no less a personage than Her Majesty, Queen Marie of Romania.

Duchesses, countesses, viscountesses are listed by name—gathered together with plain titles of "Mrs." of out own shores, and sold to advertisers for their use.

When a new night club parts its velvet portieres on the opening performance, the choicest tables are occupied by society women whose names are known across the continent. And they are there on "invitation of the management."

No check greets them at the end of the evening. Only the use of their names in publicity is requested in return for food, music, lights and show. New York stores say they could sell gowns cheaper if the wealthy women would pay more promptly.

A prominent New Yorker bought and charged an important black net evening gown with a smashing jade green bow.

Next day the gown came back because "it wouldn't do." It was put on the marked down rack because it had been worn, and had the woman been less important a protest would have been made.

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDEBILT. MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

A western woman, recently rich and new to New York society ways, summed up the situation as follows:

"The Chinese may be a strange people, but New York society women are far funnier."

"I moved there from the West," she related, "and met the women with top notch names."

"At bridge parties they would say very casually: 'Dear, lend me $3,000.' (Sometimes it was $5,000.) And they never mentioned the money again. I suppose it would be vulgar."

How to get it back? That is what the western woman would like to know. Perhaps some puzzle expert can tell her how to use cross words that won't spell social ruin.

Caledonia Schools Hold Elimination Program for County Meet

Caledonia, April 15.—A declamatory contest to determine the pupils who will represent the Caledonia schools in the county contest was held in the school auditorium Thursday evening. The winner in Group No. 1 was Betty Wood and in Group No. 2, Lela Rorick. The judges were Miss Luella Pommeroy, Mrs. Lynn L. Wood and Miss Elizabeth Saeger.

The auditorium was filled with patrons and friends of the school who appreciated the program of the children and the music by the school orchestra directed by Miss Saeger.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headache, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially

Cities' Side of Gas Fight Concluded, Mouser States; Wind-up Expected April 23

Hearing on That Date Forecast as Final; Referendum Vote To Be Taken on Rate Ordinance Adopted in Fremont

The new gas rate schedule adopted by the City Council of Fremont recently, in which a 10-year contract with the Logan Gas Co. was approved, will be submitted to a referendum vote in next fall's election, Grant F. Mouser, Jr., of the attorney general's office said while on a visit here yesterday.

Petitions for the referendum are now being circulated and will result in the proposed rate being held up until after Fremont voters are given an opportunity to render their decision, Mouser said. Mouser recently issued a public statement in which he took exceptions to reasons given by the Fremont mayor for approving the rate ordinance.

Hearings Near End
Mouser represents Marion in the fight a group of Ohio cities are waging before the state utilities commission against gas rate increases. The proceedings before the commission, Mouser said, are nearing the end. The cities have rested their case and a hearing set for April 23 is expected to wind up the long fight. At that session the gas company attorneys plan to cross examine H. R. Allensworth, rate expert representing the cities.

Allensworth at the last hearing presented testimony tending to show that appraisal figures submitted by the company engineers are far too high. Mouser declares that findings made in a West Virginia rate case on April 5 bear out Allensworth's testimony. The state board there, the Marion attorney says, ruled that leaseholders are to be appraised at their actual cost in arriving at a value for rate fixing purposes. The gas company has maintained that present market value is the proper basis.

Means Big Reduction
Should the Ohio utilities commission agree with the West Virginia ruling, the leasehold valuations of the Logan Gas Co. will be fixed at $251,000 instead of $1,400,000, the figure set by its appraisers Mouser asserts.

Mouser also announced that at the request of newspapers in Fremont he is preparing a series of six articles covering the entire history of the rate controversy which are to be released for publication soon.

Two Ohio cities will have referendum votes on gas rate schedules in November, according to Mouser. The two are Fremont and Newark.

Now... ARMSTRONG FLOORS have an added value!

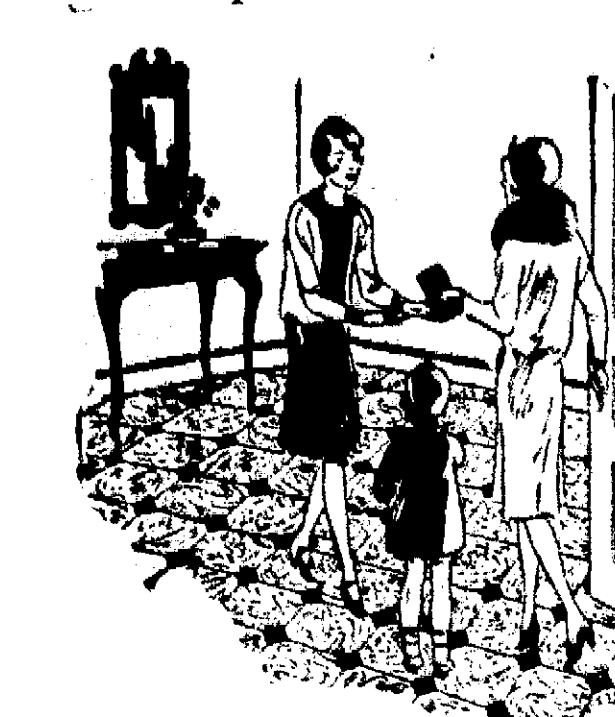

Accolac—a satiny, easily-cleaned lacquer finish now featured in Spring Display at local stores

IMAGINE a floor with the mellow glow of softly polished furniture. Now imagine a floor that can be easily kept beautiful. There you have the story of Accolac—the lovely new lacquer finish that is now found on Armstrong's Linoleum.

Applied at the plant, Accolac penetrates into the pores of the linoleum... forms a tough, protective finish... a finish with a gleam not unlike that of polished marble. Yet it is not slippery, not glaringly shiny; but has, rather, the soft-luster effect of a rich, rubbed-down surface.

Accolac denies dirt. Dust and dirt do not penetrate beneath the surface. Dirt remains surface dirt—waiting to be whisked away with brush or mop. Discolorations are nearly impossible.

And—very cheering—waxing is now a much simpler thing to do. Wax spreads evenly over Accolac—yields a glowing sheen in a few pleasant strokes of the cloth.

Her neighbors thought she had redecorated...

... until they glanced down at the floor. For this new Marble Inlaid design (No. 91) with its softly grained background and tiny insets of brown not only has a rich beauty in itself, but lends something of its richness to everything else in the room. Beauty protected by Accolac.

TEXTURED... as rich old tapestry

Tapestry effects in the new Armstrong Embossed Inlaid Linoleum are not illusions. There is a texture you can actually see and feel. This embossing catches a bewitching play of light and shadow as the rays from your boudoir lamp dance over its colorful surface. A surface made doubly rich by Accolac!

had been made today as the result of 10 student fliers leaping from an airplane here yesterday within an elapsed time of eight and one-fifth seconds. The purpose of the daring feat was to prove that passengers flying on commercial planes may escape quickly during an emergency. The students also aimed to wrest the world's parachute-jumping record from the Navy, which they did. The former record was nine men in 15 seconds. The plane, driven by Lieut. John V. Hart of Galesburg, Ill., was flying at a height of 2,000 feet and at a speed of 80 miles an hour when the record leap was made. The men, all of them graduates of the Chanute Field parachute-jumping course, could have cleared the plane within five seconds. It was stated, had they not been held back. They alighted on Chanute Field unharmed. A giant Fordson all-steel plane, capable of carrying 15 passengers, was used in the experiment. It was first planned to drop the men through the bombing tube, as the marine record was established, but a last minute change of plans had the men leap from the side door of the plane, one after another. None pulled the release string of his chute until he had fallen approximately 150 feet, enough to clear the tail of the plane.

TARBOT BELIEVES HE IS FINDING HIMSELF

Dim Recollections Crowd into Memory; Going to North Dakota

Washington, April 13—Jerry Tarbot, the "lost mariner," believes he is finding himself. Dim recollections of the past are crowding into a memory which he says was blotted out under the nerve strain of the holocaust of war at Belleau Wood more than 10 years ago. He is confident that nature will eventually solve for him a mystery which has baffled the combined efforts of army and marine corps experts as well as investigators for the Veterans Bureau and the Department of Justice. During all the years since the war he has never given up hope of learning his real name, he says. The name "Jerry Tarbot" was assumed because he had no other.

Washington, April 13—Abrogation of unequal treaties with foreign powers is the first essential to the restoration of normal conditions in China, T. K. Ching, spokesman for Chinese Nationalists, declared here today. The mission, headed by Gen. Hsu Shung (Chi Chou) Liu, former president of the National University at Canton, and other prominent Chinese, are in Washington to convince this government of the stability and soundness of Nationalistic policies. The mission looks to American public sentiment for aid in its fight for freedom from foreign exploitation. Ching made a plea for termination of foreign bondage for his country. He declared that the treaties, forced on China 80 years ago, were aimed at economic exploitation and that only their cancellation can place China in a position to work out its own salvation.

ON THE Streets of Marion WITH THE STAR STAFF

WITH only a small piece of adhesive tape for covering and the words "DO NOT STEAL" and a penciled picture of a glancing skull and crossbones inscribed for protection, a thin little dime traveled on a postcard from Ingleside, Ill. to Marion not long ago.

The dime holds the distinction of being one in a possibly million to successfully complete a journey by mail in this unusual fashion. As a result it remains attached to the postcard and is being held by Marionites as a curiosity, its travels for the present at an end. The coin was attached to the lower left corner of the address side of a correspondence card, held in by means of adhesive tape upon which was written the "morning" mentioned above and beside which were the words, in smaller letters, "this means death," heavily underscored. The address bore the request for a catalogue from a local firm, the words, "Please find 10 cents under the tape," and the sender's name and address while on the other side appeared the address of the local firm.

SHOWING of the motion picture "The Jazz Singer," here this week with Al Jolson in the leading role, will be an extraordinary entertainment event under any circumstances, for it is rated as one of the big pictures of the year. Interest is increased locally, however, by the memory of Jolson's visit to Marion in connection with the Harding presidential campaign back in 1920.

The famous comedian, it will be recalled, was at the head of a delegation of movie and stage notables who called at the Harding home and staged an impromptu program which was without precedent in political annals and has never been duplicated since then. Jolson acted as master of ceremonies and led in an entertainment of songs and repartee which delighted an assembly of several thousand persons assembled about the historic "front porch."

"I am to be appointed ambassador to China—then I will get my washing done for nothing," was one of the many quips sprung by Jolson as he stood beside Marion's presidential candidate. An original Harding campaign song composed by Jolson, was one of the highlights of the program. It was a catchy, tuneful melody entitled, "Harding, He's the Man for Us."

Included in the visiting delegation were such luminaries as Eugene O'Brien, Henry E. Dixey, Lew Cook, Texas Guinan, Blanche Walsh, Pauline Starke, Mildred Harris and Ruby Dwyer.

Jolson will be seen in "The Jazz Singer" the first four days of this week at the Marion Theater. Many of the song hits will be sung by Harry Lee Miller.

ALTHOUGH not every day on the calendar can be a "red letter day," increasingly large numbers of days are coming to have special significance to Americans. Among the special days and weeks scheduled during April and May are National Garden Week, which runs from April 15 to 21, "Better Homes Week," April 22 to 28, Child Health Day, May 1, "International Boys' Week," April 29 to May 6 and National Music Week, May 6 to 12.

Most of them are to be observed in Marion by various organizations.

THE latest report of R. G. Dun & Co. discloses that business failures and bankruptcies in Ohio have averaged considerably below the general scale throughout the country during the last year. Commerce and industry in this state are amply managed and are on a sound basis, if the

Ritzy Rosey

No more runs or holes for Ritzy Rosey! She has discovered a powder that apparently works miracles with sheer chiffon hose. Some of the powder is dissolved in warm water and the hose are washed in the clear solution. It neither stiffens nor discolors the hose and they will be free from "rainbows" months after stockings not treated in this way have been discarded.

Dun analysis can be regarded as a reliable index, and it is generally conceded that none is more reliable.

The city of Marion ranked among the communities of Ohio showing the lowest percentage of failures. The record shows that receiverships and bankruptcy proceedings have been at a minimum, placing this community considerably above the average for the state as a whole.

An unusual feature has developed in recent months in reports of bankruptcy proceedings. These reports list a large number of bankruptcy petitions filed by individual citizens who are engaged in no business but who work for salaries or wages. In most instances, they schedule debts ranging anywhere from a few hundred dollars up to approximately $2,000 and usually have no assets. This means that the creditors get nothing.

Various causes are given for these cases of personal insolvency. Frequently ill-health or some other misfortune is the source. Now and then it can be traced to plain extravagance, the ruinous practice of an individual living beyond his means.

The solution local attorneys familiar with such proceedings say, might be at least partly arrived at by a tightening up of credit.

Many men who complain about playing second fiddle ought to be glad they are in the orchestra at all.

Holds Kissing Accident, Girl to Get Compensation

COLUMBUS, April 16—Kissing, under certain incidents, is an accident, and makes the victim eligible for compensation under the workman's compensation law of Ohio, was the decision of the State Industrial Commission Saturday in the case of Mary Skoech of Delaware.

It probably so happens that many persons are kissed but never before in the history of the workman's compensation has an application been filed for such an award.

It wasn't really a kiss that caused the granting of an award as it was the after effect of the kiss.

Miss Skoech is a nurse in the Jane M. Chase hospital in Delaware, and that is where the "accident" occurred.

A patient had been admitted to the hospital thought to be suffering with a severe case of influenza. The patient developed scarlet fever and became delirious. She arose from her sick bed and strode through the halls. Miss Skoech saw her.

It naturally followed that the nurse would put the patient back where she belonged, and it was while Miss Skoech was doing this that the patient threw her arms around the nurse and probably to show her appreciation of the attention, began to kiss the nurse.

Application for the award says "the claimant couldn't protect herself and had to proceed to get patient back to bed."

Later the nurse contracted scarlet fever and for many weeks was seriously ill. From December 26 until February 21 she was unable to perform any work at all, and

SOLD FOR $20

Ashland Disposes of Its 75-Year-Old Courthouse

ASHLAND, April 16—The 75-year-old courthouse of Ashland County sold for $20 under an auctioneer's gavel. Public subscriptions raised the structure at a cost of $20,000, but having outlived its usefulness, it will be razed to make way for a new one.

The buyer was John Phillips, a local contractor, whose bid was the only one made. He wanted the timbers of the building, which he declared to be better than those in any other building in the state, for use in his business. Phillips must remove the building within 30 days.

Times Have Changed

A few years ago it was possible to buy a large size loaf of bread for a nickel—now it is ten cents. Good coffee sold for thirty cents a pound—today you pay sixty. A very excellent suit of clothes could be purchased for fifteen dollars—today you must pay at least fifty-five for one of just passable quality.

Why do you pay more for commodities than you did a few years ago? The answer is very easy. Labor is higher, competition is keener, the cost of production and materials is greater.

Yet, in all these years, while the prices of other commodities advanced, your Gas Company supplied fuel to the City of Marion at the old rate. Each year saw a steadily rising cost in bringing gas to your city. Finally, nearly four years ago, it became necessary for Your Gas Company to ask for a slight advance in rate in order to make a living wage and increase its service to Marion.

If everything else is worth more, why isn't gas? You wouldn't want to get along without gas, would you? Then, why shouldn't you give your Gas Utility a "square deal" on rates?

Our Third Annual Special Trade-in SALE

The Fast Get-Away
—the Quick Stop
of Modern Motors
Demand Modern Tires

What OTHER tire has kept pace with the rapid development in motor cars, particularly in the past two years—their higher speed, extra power, quicker get-away, sudden stopping—punishment that tears down the ordinary carcass and grinds off the tread of any tire not built to meet the new driving conditions.

Built bigger and better through and through. Not merely thicker in tread—not merely more rubber on the surface. Even some of the cheaper tires can copy the thickness of the tread, but it isn't only the amount of rubber that counts with General—it's the kind. Not simply more rubber but more pure rubber, more per tire—and not only more in the tread but more inside.

Bigger, thicker tires and more quality in the rubber—that is the sort of tire foundation the modern motor car must have. It is the reason for car owners everywhere turning to top quality—

General's Dual Tread Proper Size Line

The SEVEN

for Cadillac, Packard, Lincoln, Rolls Royce, Pierce Arrow—others.

The BIG SIX

for Buick, Nash, Reo, Hudson, Studebaker, Hupmobile, Graham-Paige, Chrysler, Packard Six, La Salle—and others.

The JUMBO

for Ford, Dodge, Chevrolet, Star, Pontiac, Whippet, Essex.

Protection That Cannot Be Duplicated By Any Other Tire

It's not only the second 10,000 miles that makes the big Six, but the uninterrupted service that carries through to the last mile—the protection that can be given only when it is built into the tire—

Not the protection that dodges the question of natural wear and insures against accidents by promising free repairs—

Not the sort of protection that you collect on only by having trouble—But the "top quality" protection that means avoidance of delay, of dirt, of soiled and sometimes spoiled clothing, of ruined tubes through going flat.

These are the real protections that car owners want today, particularly since reclaimed rubber in tires has proved such a troublesome experiment for millions of users by causing tires to go out prematurely.

Always Foremost In Value-Giving—
This Year Bigger Than Ever

Sale Starts Tomorrow, 7 A. M.

Low rubber prices and the added benefit of our special full-value allowance for your old tires enable us to offer an unparalleled opportunity in this year's event—savings in first cost equalled only by the final economy of General's extra mileage.

Rollaway on Generals at the lowest figure ever known.

Cash in your worn tires at their highest worth.

Everyone can take advantage of this Trade-in Sale, no matter how much or little the tires are worn.

Every Make, Every Size, Old or New,
Will Be Taken In

We'll buy your old tires and pay liberally for the miles left in them—the blowouts and road troubles in the old tires, too. Get rid of your doubtful tires before they go out. They're worth more to you off your wheels than on. You trade in the old tires for more than they're actually worth to you today and get in exchange new Dual Tread, "Proper Size" Generals that will run through several seasons in comfort, safety and style at the lowest cost you ever paid.

Never Before Has Top Quality Cost So Little—Never So Easy To Pay For

When the Trade-in Sale opens tomorrow morning, car owners who have thought Generals too high for the average pocketbook are going to be surprised.

We know that once they ride on GENERALS there will never be a question of the cost again, even if tire prices should go to the highest peak.

We want every car owner in the city and vicinity to know what it means to run on Generals—how little it costs to enjoy top quality mileage ANYTIME and particularly now with the special opportunity this Trade-in Sale offers for getting started.

No other occasions in the rubber industry have so stirred the wholesale response of the car owning public as have these annual spring trade-in events.

Created originally by General in 1926, it has been widely imitated, but after all, General's top quality is the one possible basis for success, for giving to the public the genuine values of the Trade-in Plan.

Without that feature of quality leadership which only General can give, the Trade-in Sale would not pay us. We can afford it only because of the assurance that customers taking advantage of this sale will "roll with us" for years to come.

Our one big object is new customers by the hundreds. We count upon the long term patronage that top quality wins.

Bull says she's Mrs. Louise Montana. And thus the real life of the world of make-believe goes on. Can you beat it?

Charles A. ## A Record-Breaking Flight.

Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrun landed at Le Bourget flying field, just outside Paris, shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, finishing their record-breaking 35,000-mile flight around the world which they began October 10.

The flight of these intrepid Frenchmen lacked the "dash" which brought undying fame to Colonel Lindbergh, but taken all in all it was probably the most remarkable flight in the history of aviation. It took Costes and Lebrun in the first non-stop flight across the South Atlantic, over five continents, over great deserts and almost endless forests never trodden by the foot of a white man. Practically all the lands of South America were visited before the trip northward over Central America and Mexico to the United States was made. Then across the continent westward the two made their flight to the Pacific, where they embarked for the Orient. And then came their amazing flight from Tokyo to Paris, in which, flying night and day across China, India and Persia, they averaged over 1,600 miles a day, resting but eight hours on the entire six-day trip, twenty-nine days faster than it could be made by the fastest boat.

It was simply a wonderful flight, yet we found the story of it under a small head on an inside page of a Sunday paper, while a follow-up story of the flight of the Bremen was featured under an eight-column streamer upon the first page.

More than that, the crowd of 6,000 which gathered at Le Bourget to greet these great French airmen didn't compare in size with that which greeted Lindbergh when he arrived there.

And thus we have another illustration of a characteristic of people generally. We are not so much impressed by continuous, steady, dependable achievement as we are by the unexpected. It's the "dash" which brings us to our feet most quickly with tumultuous cheers. Lindbergh performed where man had never performed before, and the wonder of his achievement in the popular mind dimmed the glory of the feat of Costes and Lebrun.

Added Safeguards in Submarines.

Having in mind the awful horror of Provincetown, last December, when the S-1 was sent to the bottom with the loss of all aboard, it is good to learn that the V-4, our newest and greatest submarine, the largest and most powerful in the world, is equipped with many safety devices which have not heretofore been employed in the construction of our submarines.

Among these safety devices, which number 194, are several which might have saved the lives of the officers and crew of the S-1 had she been equipped with them. Among the chief of the new devices are two escape hatches, one at the bow and one at the stern, which open on the deck but are under the bell-shaped air dome. These are so constructed that two men can enter them at a time, close the hatch after them, open a valve to let the water in till the air pressure in the dome stops the water's flow, and then open a door at the side of the dome and swim to the surface. The controls inside the vessel make it possible to repeat the operation till the last man has escaped.

Another innovation, and one which is considered very valuable, is the arrangement of the hatch control system by means of which the hatches can be operated from either the inside or the outside of the vessel. It is believed that this latter innovation would permit divers, in case of grave emergency, to enter a dome and start pumping machinery to raise the ship and its men.

Other new devices include individual air-blowing lines reaching to all sections of the vessel which may be used in supplying air and liquid food to the various compartments, fresh water connections in each compartment and the hydraulic storage of gasoline which greatly lessens the danger of a fire or even explosion.

It might be thought, off hand, that these innovations have been introduced as a result of the sinking of the S-1, but a moment's thought will show the folly of such an assumption. The plans for such innovations could hardly have been thought out in the little time which has elapsed since the Provincetown horror, much less executed. Our naval designers and constructors explain that these innovations have not heretofore been employed for the season that, up to the time of the construction of the V series, our submarines have been too small to permit of their introduction.

In a craft so delicately adjusted for buoyancy as a submarine, our naval people explain, every pound of weight counts and any addition of equipment presents serious problems. It was only because of its largely-increased size that it was possible to employ the new safety devices in the V-4.

At the best, there is fearful hazard in the operation of a submarine. We may be assured to the contrary by the experts, but the fact remains that experience has demonstrated that unusual hazard attends submarine operation. Theoretically, they may be almost as safe as a surface vessel, but theory and practice do not always go hand in hand. Following the lessons of experience, not only in our own navy, but also in the navies of other powers, we are bound to recognize this exceptional hazard and, recognizing it, there is every reason for congratulating that this risk has been lessened by the introduction into our new submarines of these safety devices. No safeguard should be overlooked in guarding the lives of the officers and men who man our vessels designed for operation beneath the surface of the sea.

We frankly admit our inability to understand Senator Hoffman, of Alabama. Certainly he must appreciate the fact that the marines are sufficiently popular without the assistance of any knocking on his part.

Even though the Stillmans—James and Fifi—sailed from New York City for Europe on the same liner and landed at different ports, as reported, that's hardly ground for unloading another summer's batch of Stillman publicity upon a long-suffering public such as has been inflicted upon it year after year.

A Kansas City woman is seeking $200,000 damages from the government for the loss of her son, who met his death by drinking poisoned alcohol. If she can establish a precedent by securing redress along that line it's easy to see that there's a possibility that the government may go bankrupt.

Remarking that it is much easier to borrow than to pay, President Coolidge points out that whereas we increased the national debt $25,000,000,000 from 1917 to 1919, we have reduced it but $8,500,000,000 in the eight years since. Still, had every political division of the country done as well in the past eight years, our aggregate tax burden would not be half what it is.

Pure Food and Air Needed.

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Many mothers write to me asking why their babies do not develop as they should. They are disturbed because something has interfered with normal growth.

Probably the most important factor in this connection is wrong feeding. Improper foods, overfeeding and underfeeding are among the common causes for delayed development. There may be no actual disease, but the child is at a standstill—there is no increase in growth or weight.

Too many persons forget that it is just as necessary for little babies to have fresh air as it is for an adult. You can't put a baby in a clothes closet and expect that in some of the room, disregarding the oxygen needs of the infant. Of course I would not want you to expose the baby to a draft of cold air, or to expose it to cold of any sort. But the child must be kept in a room that is freely ventilated.

All you have to do to cause the baby to fade in health is to give it unhygienic surroundings. Dust, dirt and filth will undermine the health and prospects of the baby.

Just because a baby is little and can not tell you what is wrong is no reason for thinking that uncomfortable conditions do not wear upon its nerves and health. It can not be left wet and soiled habitually without having had symptoms in consequence. Noises, bright lights and every factor that disturbs grown people will annoy and disturb a baby.

A young infant sleeps most of the time. On this account disturbed and restless sleep and sleeplessness must cause the mother some anxiety.

Indigestion and anger are the most frequent causes for disturbed sleep. I need not tell you that the indigestion usually comes from overfeeding or giving the wrong kind of food. A child may cry out in its sleep because of a pain of colic.

Of course, there are other kinds of pain than that which comes from the digestive organs. Lots of times there is found to be a trouble with the ear. The earache causes agonizing pain in little folks as it does in grown-up people. The child wakes up at night with a start and lets out a terrible yell.

It rarely happens that an earache comes on without some previous warning. There is discharge from the nose and slight elevation of temperature. On account of the stoppage of the nose the infant does not nurse readily. A little later comes the disturbed sleep which I have described.

Repeated colds, frequent attacks of earache, indigestion—all these are factors in lowering the vitality of the child. In consequence, development is delayed. Weight and growth do not increase as they should.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

C. L. Q.—What should a girl of sixteen, five feet one and a half inches tall, weigh? She weighs 113 pounds. Is she underweight?

A.—She should weigh about 114 pounds.

E. M. S. Q.—What do you advise for a dry, scaly skin all over the body?

A.—Probably due to eczema. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

W. E. R. Q.—What would you advise for an arm stiff at the elbow?

A.—Would you advise soaking the feet in Epsom salts and for how long should it be done?

A.—Depends upon the cause of the stiffness. Is there possible infection in the system? This must be determined before treatment can be advised.

2.—For what purpose are you taking Epsom salts foot baths?—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Editorial Opinion.

OLD SWASHBUCKLING DAYS.

First there was DeFoe. Then there was Dumas. And then there was Stanley J. Weyman, who has just died. Since he ceased writing the colorful tales which enjoyed popularity almost as great as did those of Rider Haggard, there have been other adventure-novel writers who have carried the lamp. Among these are John Buchan and Rafael Sabatini. But in the whole list, with the exception of Haggard and Dumas, no author at his death had more vogue than Mr. Weyman or gave innocent pleasure to a greater number of readers.

Who that read it, or saw Kyrle Bellew play it, can ever forget "A Gentleman of France," the Sieur de la Marsac? His fight on the staircase with the seven or seventy men—it made no difference to Marsac—the glorious justifiable homicides wrought by the rickless Bussy d'Amboise in "La Dame de Monsoreau." Dumas had covered the Valois and later Bourbon period with the embroidery of his fancy, but he had not done so much for Henri IV. Mr. Weyman devoted much of his imagination to that fascinating royal character and the Messieurs de Beuville and Roenay, who were his familiars. For thrills of another kind "The House of the Wolf" met the requirements of every bedside light, and as a study of astuteness and statecraft resident in Richelieu, "Under the Red Robe" is a story to satisfy readers of every age.

An Oxford man who had majored in modern history, Mr. Weyman added to his knowledge of background a charming style; and these, joined to skill in characterization and a sense of plot, gave the two decades at the turn of the century more than their share of thrills. What an age for diversion it was that within a few years produced "The White Company," "She," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "A Gentleman of France."—New York Times.

EVOLUTION OF SHIRTS.

Young bucks may not know this—but their dads remember it well—that all dress shirts used to be starched in front and slit up behind.

All such shirts once were white, at least until Wednesday evening. Colored or figured shirts, when they came in, were viewed askance by conservatives, the kind of men who said that a crease in the trousers proclaimed the fact that they came from a ready-made clothing store.

The modern coat shirt proved a convenience and eventually drove the orthodox slit back, starched garment off the market.

Now it isn't particularly difficult to close a shirt up with buttons, but dress shirts are fastened with studs, three to four in number. Putting studs into shirts under any condition is bad enough, but putting them in after the shirt is on is like cutting one's own hair.

Of course, no great evil can last forever. A change was bound to come. If you ask for a full dress shirt now, the haberdasher slams down on the counter just the sort of shirt that grandfather wore on his wedding day, save that it has cuffs attached. It has a hard starched facade and the open back. Studs have been reduced to one. Fashion has made a complete reversal. The shirt that five years ago a man would have been mortified to be seen in, now has the fullest approval of the style arbiters. They cannot undo the mischief or repair the grief for which full dress coat shirts have been responsible, but they have, at least, made amends.—Detroit Herald.

NEW OFFICIALS NEEDED.

In Woodstock, Virginia, a man who was captured in a daylight bank robbery was fined five dollars and sent to jail for one minute by the court. In Philadelphia two men captured in an attempted safe robbery, after a furious gun battle with policemen, had bail fixed at $2,000 by the magistrate.

In these cases the magistrate, jurors and judge appeared to think their first duty was to make light of the burden of the prisoners. They forgot, it seems, their obligation to society, their oath to enforce and administer the laws, and ran far away from the common sense rule of procedure. They were not law and order criminals.

The use of discretionary powers inside the limits fixed by law is a matter for the individual official, but his blunders fall heavily on the public. Bail is supposed to be sufficiently important to secure the appearance of the prisoner when his case is called. To fix a low bail that permits professional criminals to post a forfeit and flee is a rank injustice to the public. The judge who fixes a fine of five dollars and a minute in jail for a man associated with a daylight bank robbery is unfit to hold public office and should be reparable. That is condoning criminals and entirely ludicrous. Woodstock needs a new judge. Philadelphia needs a new magistrate, if laws are to mean anything and if courts are to deal justly with the public.—Ohio State Journal.

Hear Me now, therefore, O ye children, and depart not from the words of My mouth.—Proverbs 5:7.
Prayer—May we be strong in the Lord and in the power of His Might.

The Voyagers.

BY GARRETT P. SERVING.

I read recently an account of two "mice with prehensile tails" that were brought as curiosities to a professor in one of our Central state colleges, having been found in a bunch of bananas. The professor recognized them as marsupials of a Central American species, and a search of the banana bunch from which they had come resulted in the discovery of four more of these strange little stowaways who had travelled from the tropics in a golden argosy.

This incident recalls the extent to which both animals and plants have shared in man's transportation conquest of the earth. Both our friends and our enemies in the two kingdoms of life go along with us, and when we settle a new land, and begin to develop its resources, our old contemporaries, not excluding those that we would prefer to shake off, manage to get across the oceans and enjoy in their own peculiar ways the advantage of new world surroundings.

With the greatly-increased speed of transit that airships will soon afford on a large scale, it is probable that some forms of life that have not hitherto been able to survive a sea crossing, or the surmounting of mountain barriers, will manage to get over. A special air traffic quarantine may then become imperative. Modern medicine and hygiene have taught us the vast agency of minute parasitical life for both good and evil, and on the national defense line the supervision of this kind of immigration becomes more and more onerous as intercommunication grows in volume and rapidly.

A curious list might be made of the animals most frequently transported as unwelcome stowaways in vessels. They include tropical spiders, gorgeous in color, but frightful in aspect, and among them occasionally the dreaded tarantula, which finds its cabins de voyage in the interstices of banana bunches, as did the prehensile-tailed marsupials above spoken of. Small snakes also manage to make long trips with cargoes of fruit, while flies, moths and other insects come along, of course.

Every transatlantic traveler is familiar with the sight of house flies most unexpectedly to him making their appearance as fellow voyagers in the middle of the ocean and enjoying a sunny day at sea with characteristic nonchalance. Self-embarked birds have been known to cross the ocean in a ship. The rat is a famous, though generally unseen, shipmate, and in years of plague perhaps the most dangerous of all the uninvited immigrants.

The disasters that have been brought upon the agricultural, horticultural and forestry interests of this country through the voyaging hither by ship and by rail of noxious insects, parasites and germs represent the loss of many millions of dollars, besides the blight inflicted upon the face of the land by the destruction of shade and ornamental trees.

But sometimes the worst of these incomers from across the seas prove to be those that man has invited and brought along with himself and his family, thinking to find them delightful and useful companions and valuable additions to the population of a new country. A famous example is the English sparrow, which, coming over as a cherished and admired friend, immediately took possession of everything in sight, made itself entirely at home, drove off the more desirable sparrows and other birds by its aggressive and quarrelsome disposition, and multiplied until the law had to be appealed to to legalize its destruction.

Other cases dangerous parasites brought here for study have escaped and spread disaster by their attacks upon plant life. The latest phase of this matter is in many ways the most interesting: it is the importation of "mercenary troops" of small animals and insect parasites, to make war upon the noxious interlopers, and to help in keeping down their ravages. But, unluckily, the mercenaries sometimes join the enemy and turn upon their employers—as their human prototypes did in the days of Alexander, Hannibal and Caesar, not to speak of times nearer to our own.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Thursday. A marriage license was issued to Minnie McFarland and George Herzog.

In speaking of the death of Mrs. Susannah Uncapher, who died at her home on Bellefontaine avenue two days before, the Star gave her age as eighty-eight years, nine months and two days and stated that she had been married seventy years before to Isaac Uncapher, with whom she had lived for sixty-six years and that she had been a member of the Presbyterian church for sixty-eight years. Marion was planning the official opening of her three parks.

In their punitive expedition against the Koreans, the Japanese were reported to be sparing neither women nor children.

A marriage license was issued to Miss D. Holt and William Krutner.

The Star reported the marriage, the day before, of Miss Flossie Estella Herschler and Mr. Arthur Goldsmith, at the home of the bride's parents near Martel, by Rev. J. Christman.

The Star reported the birth of a daughter, the night before, to Mr. and Mrs. George Estlack, of Girard avenue.

In the World of Industry.

Britain's fishing fleet numbers 20,000 boats manned by 65,000 men.

The eight-hour day is now in operation in industrial establishments throughout Poland.

The first paper mill in Arkansas has begun operations at Camden, with a capacity of 160 tons of kraft paper a day.

The introduction of the eight-hour day in France has resulted, according to official report, in a higher output in many cases than was attained under the ten-hour day.

Wages increases of seven and one-half per cent, to locomotive engineers are provided in an agreement reached by the Boston and Maine railroad and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Twelve low-side gondola cars recently completed for the Carnegie Steel company are said to be the longest cars ever moved over any American railroad. Each car has an outside length of sixty-eight feet nine inches and an inside length of sixty-five feet. The extra long type of car makes it possible to ship long lengths of steel on a single car.

Vagrant Verse.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH.

When I find you, when I look upon your first,
O magic water, in that dazzling hour,
Shall I tremble, shall I dare to shake my thirst?
Do you frighten them that go to test your power?O beloved and unknown, the mystery
About you deepens as the days go by.
Are you flowing over grasses wastefully?
Are you nourishing frail weeds that long to die?When I find you, when I touch you with my hand,
The glory of my youth will flash again,
And the years will fall apart like mounds of sand,
And my strength rise like a banner over men.O elusive and beloved, though the years
Pile up while I go drifting everywhere,
I will find you, and your song will fill my ears,
And your genius bathe the gray dust from my hair.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MONTYRE.

New York, April 14.—Diary of a modern Popsy: To breakfast when there was discussion of people who talked to themselves and all present admitted the falling indeed in other days impudent bar-tenders of the night before were conversationally licked by most of us in the next morning bath.

To talk to Pat Casey, who wrote "Was, Women and War" anonymously and did a good job of it, too. Talked, also, to a navigation expert who told a hair-raising tale of a great ocean liner coming within a few inches of turning turtle on a maiden voyage several years ago.

In the evening to dinner with Eva Steinmetz and Otis Ralston and we had a pullet cooked in fruits, timbales of new asparagus and a stewed pear covered with a delicious pinkish sauce. Then to the Dutch Treat show and thought it dull; so home to bed.

One of the novelties of apartment entertaining is expressed in a progressive motion-picture idea. Guests are shown movies of the theater visited the apartment before and then the guests present are filmed and added to the reel for the next visitors.

A rich man has a treat in store for his year-old son. He has had a movie taken of the youngster every month and hopes to continue it until the child reaches maturity. Then the high lights may be unfolded on the screen.

A mysterious visitor to a Madison avenue florist ordered a $10 supply of flowers and anonymously to a lady during his eighteen months' globe trotting journey. He left $5,476 in cash without giving his name. "We met but once," he explained, "and she would not remember me. I simply admire her more than any lady I ever saw." Proof enough!

Such secret sentiment is not uncommon to florists. There is an actress, now retired, who during seven years of her stage career in New York and on tour received a single red rose daily from an admirer whose identity she never learned. She confessed the thoughtfulness touched her deeply and was one of the reasons she never married. Wait a second—that might be a publicity gag.

I wonder if cops patrolling Fifth avenue warning owners of unmuzzled dogs that they face danger of arrest ever think of walking westward in the Forties and knocking at almost any door. That might furnish fuel for the flaming zeal for law and order.

There is one Fifth avenue cop, however, of whom I am especially fond. He always greets me with, "Hello, young man," or "How's tricks, young fellow?" And I feel as though I might be fourteen, and wearing an Eton collar on my way to a Hippodrome matinee.

Coney Island, which faced its worst season last summer, perked up as the result of war patronage. Thousands found the invigorating and wintry air so stimulating they spent week ends at Coney. The biggest hotel did a good business.

Simplicity grows as a symbol of wealth. A magazine the other day assigned me to interview a man born to immense riches. After talking a while he went to his kitchen, secured an apple, pared it and shared it with me. I thought millionaires served repasts of caviar and wine in golden goblets. I even expected few dancing girls. I hope he comes to see me some time. I have a new corn popper.

In one of the hotels a new shaving wrinkle is introduced. A light with a reflector is between the faucets of the wash bowl, thus providing a clear light for under chin shaving.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Women are not working in factories to kill time until they can catch a man—not today. They are in industry to stay. They are there to better their economic condition. They are there in order that they may win freedom and independence for themselves. And factories today, are not what they used to be. They are more comfortable, and there is an atmosphere of cheerfulness about them that was unknown twenty-five years ago. Women working in factories know what they are about.

It is curious to observe that some of the things men do the hardest, the things that they do with the most vigor, are some of the things that are least worth doing. In Carolina a man played the piano ninety-nine hours and forty-five minutes. He would have gone right on playing if he had not been stopped at midnight by a blue law that forbids that kind of entertainment on Sunday. Here is an example of great perseverance and industry put to no use. If there is any habit that is almost as bad as laziness it is the habit of great activity to no purpose.

Hilda May Gordon, a young woman who home is on the Isle of Wight, is in the country. She has been painting her way around the world. There are men and women who have worked their way around the world in various fashions. Many have written the way. Few have painted their way to do it, but Hilda May Gordon six years to do it, but she has painted some good pictures and they are sold for real money. If there is anything that can best man's ingenuity it's woman's ingenuity.

"The hornbills, ladies and gentlemen, a quaint birds that inhabit the jungles of Malaya. They are five feet long. When the female lays an egg she goes into a hollow tree. The male bird collects mud and plasters her up. She stays in there for two and a half months until the male bird feeds her on strychnine all the time." This is an illustration from a lecture by the noted traveler, Carvelth Wells.

Mr. Wells is not really a naturalist by profession, but he is a tremendous salesman by the facts which the naturalist knows to be true. What you know is highly important, but it is capacity for selling curious facts to a curious world is also highly important if you are going to make a place for yourself.

verse winds. When land was finally sighted last Friday afternoon the airman thought it was either Newfoundland or Nova Scotia. They did not know they had traveled so far north as Labrador.

Weather Thick

During the last half of the voyage from Ireland the plane was continually hampered by thick weather and oftentimes the airman descended so low that the Atlantic almost lapped the landing gear. Approaching Greenly Island the airman saw the ice pack and realized for the first time that they had strayed into the frigid north country.

The Bremen, it is now learned, did not land upon the snow, but upon the ice. Its weight caused it to break through the surface. The propeller was badly bent and the tail of the machine was ripped off by the ice.

As soon as the Bremen came to a standstill the three airmen scrambled from the cockpit for a look around and to get their bearings. They found themselves upon a desolate island that was apparently uninhabited. The northern dusk had already fallen and stars were visible during lulls in the snow storm. The plane had been sighted by a wireless operator and news of its arrival in America was being flashed back to civilization while the aviators were still exploring the rocky, icebound islet. They came upon the lighthouse keeper who gave them food and shelter and sent their messages across the strait to the Labrador Mainland where they were floundering by the Point Amour operator. This operator had previously sighted the plane assuming it was the Bremen.

problems. The tragic death of Frank Willis is an illustration of what can happen to a robust man of great physical strength and massive build. He was only 57, had been in the Senate but seven years and should have lived another score of years.

"Willis was busy with his senatorial duties, carrying in them, all the burdens one man needs. He entered the Ohio primaries, a candidate for the presidency. To his surprise, perhaps, but undoubtedly to his great disappointment he found himself opposed. A fight must be waged. Torn by conflicting emotions, it was natural that he should begin to worry. That was the beginning of the end.

"I have no doubt that the excitement of the bitter campaign, and the necessity of breasting the political currents, tired and even fagged the powerful heart and body. Restless nights, disturbed digestion and inflamed nerves broke down his resistance. No longer could the weakened tissues stand the pressure. He was stricken and died, the victim of worry. There are indirect causes for his untimely death, but it was the worry of conflict that laid low that splendid body."

If Willis "could have laughed at his political foes," Copeland added, he might have lived many more years.

"The laws of right living are easy to master," he concluded. "Day in and day out, there must be simple eating, plenty of sleep and sunshine, exercise and agreeable surroundings. Right living and right thinking, freedom from worry and trust in God—these are the essentials. They apply to everybody as well as to senators."

MOVING SLOWLY

Montana Fighting Terrible Storm Enroute to Fliers

Ottawa, Ont., April 16.—Reports here indicated that the ice-breaker, Montcalm would not reach Greenly Island where the transatlantic fliers were marooned, until some time today at the earliest.

Early today the ice-breaker was reported to be within about 50 miles of its destination but it was proceeding at a snail's pace because of a terrific storm.

New Supply of "Just Kids" Buttons Is To Arrive Soon

WELL, boys and girls, all of you who didn't get an application blank to sign and join the "Just Kids Safety Club" will have a chance to do so some day this week. Many have written letters asking for buttons, but we can't give them out unless you bring or send in an application blank.

We have given out two boxes of buttons and still half of the members aren't supplied. We have sent to New York for another big shipment of them and expect them some time the last of the week. If your application is already in, watch for the announcement in the paper when they arrive, and come in and get yours.

Much is popular.

Much is such a popular boy that it wasn't long before every one of the buttons with his picture on was gone, and Officer Branner was next in popularity. Wonder why Fats and Mom and Pop weren't wanted by so many?

Many of our out-of-town members who received buttons have written in, thanking us for them and promising that they will be sure and observe the pledge they signed to gain membership in this great club. Applications have come in from Walden, Columbus, Bucyrus, Morral, Galion, Waverly, Richwood, Kenton, North Xenia, and a great many other places where boys and girls must be careful and "Remember to look up and down before crossing the street."

Watch the papers for the application blank which will be printed and the announcement of the arrival of the brightly colored buttons.

$100,000 "LOAN" IS RULED OUT OF CASE

Government Suffers Heavy Blow in Sinclair Oil Conspiracy Trial

Washington, April 16.—The prosecution suffered a smashing blow today in the oil conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair when Justice Jennings Bailey refused to permit in evidence one of the government's biggest points.

Bailey denied the plea of Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts to put E. L. Doherty, Jr., on the stand to tell of his father's $100,000 "loan" to former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall at a time the elder Doherty was leasing the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve.

Roberts wanted to show that Fall had been "in a thoroughly corrupt state of mind," and freely accepted money which didn't belong to him from the men who got leases on the oil reserves. Bailey, however, ruled that any transaction between Doherty and Fall had no bearing on Sinclair and the Teapot Dome Oil Lease.

The judge permitted Roberts to introduce evidence about $25,000 that Sinclair went to Fall in June 1923. The defense had objected to this on the ground it took place long after the leasing of Teapot Dome.

This $25,000 brought the total of money Fall received from Sinclair to $294,100. The government contends the money was a bribe.

DRIVERS HELD IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Three Operating Cars While Intoxicated, Is Allegation

o'clock last night. Both were held under $300 bond.

Hit Traffic Light

George Grace, 22, of 580 West-st. and John Lewis, 28, of 317 Chestnut-st., were arrested at 10:20 o'clock last night after the automobile in which they were riding and which was being driven by Grace had collided with the electric traffic light pole at Center and State-sts. A charge of reckless driving was placed against Grace and one of intoxication against Lewis. Both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Municipal Judge W. H. Martin this morning and were fined $10 and costs each. Both paid and were released.

John Kowal, 1040 Unacpher-av., and Adam Olkapsky, Upper Sandusky, sustained minor injuries in an accident which involved two machines and a front porch about 8 o'clock Saturday night on David-st., near the intersection of David and W. Columbus. The two, said to have been intoxicated, ran the Chevrolet, which Kowal was driving, into a Ford coupe owned by Albert Knickle and parked in front of his home, 922 David-st.

Hit Front Porch

The Ford was thrown into the yard between the sidewalk and curb, crashing into a tree while the Chevrolet, with its occupants, drove into the yard of the house owned by E. J. Courstad, W. Church-st., crashed into the front porch, knocking the front steps completely out of the house.

The two men were taken to City Hospital, in the W. C. Boyd ambulance but were released almost immediately at their own request.

HER RHEUMATISM

SHE GOT KONJOLA

This Lady Receives Quick and Lasting Relief From New Medicine

MRS. WALTER HENDRICKSON

Every day people are turning to Konjola for real relief in cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, or rheumatic and neuritic troubles. One of the latest to give praise to this medicine is Mrs. Walter Hendrickson, 118 East Exchange St., Akron, Ohio.

"At the time I started to take Konjola, my health was in a very poor condition, but as bad as my system was run down, this medicine went right to the source of my trouble and completely ended all my misery," said Mrs. Hendrickson.

"For months I was so completely miserable I could hardly stand to do my housework. I suffered constantly with rheumatic pains in my back and limbs. My nerves were jumpy and I couldn't stand the least noise. A disordered stomach and weak kidneys added to this misery. Nothing ever helped me until I got Konjola. It gave me quick and lasting relief and now I enjoy the best health in every way."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and run down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sons Pharmacy and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting, he discovered the cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Henney & Cooper and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should try Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID without delay.—Adv.

Week-End Party

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilhelm, 609
Irving-av. were host and hostess at a week-end party at their cottage. River-location, at Rye Beach, returning home last night. Guests other than Marion friends were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Christ-man and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stump of Mansfield.

Ars Wed at

Epworth Parsonage

Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth
M. E. Church, officiated Saturday afternoon at the marriage of Miss Marjorie Nulfer and Fenton J. Lord.
The ceremony took place at the church parsonage.

The bride was dressed in blue georgette and carried sweet peas and roses.
Mr. and Mrs. Ward E. Williams, sister and brother-in-law of Mr. Lord, gave a 6 o'clock dinner at their home, 205
Rainey-av. in honor of the newlyweds.

Sweet peas and roses centered the table at the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Lord left for a trip to Columbus and Dayton and after April 18 will be at home at 410 N. State-st.

Mrs. Lord is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nulfer, Caladonia, and Mr.
Lord is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J.
Lord, north of the city.

Husbands of Club

Entertained Saturday

Members of the O. J. D. Club and their husbands were entertained Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Blessing, Uhler-av. Mrs.
Paul Emery was assistant hostess.

Pauline Thomas, Mrs. Harwood Taylor,
Harold Foster and Lawrence Larson were awarded in contests. The time was spent with music, games and contests and a two-course lunch was served by the hostesses.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Kenton Congregations Seek To Maintain High Enrollment

Kenton, April 16—With the passing of the special programs attendant upon the observance of Easter, Good Friday and Lent, services in churches here
Sunday returned to normal.

Attendance, which reached its peak
Sunday in the Bible schools and services of worship convened at a high figure yesterday and now pastors and the laity are placing special stress upon personal evangelistic work that the high mark might be maintained.

At the First M. E. church, Rev. C.
J. Yelley spoke on "Redemption an Essential to Christianity," the first of a special sermon series on the general subject, "Essentials of Christianity."

Canon Man Talks

Hon. V. A. Schreiber, Canon, prominent church leader, spoke at the morning services in the First Presbyterian church, which in the evening the congregation joined with the Church of Christ in union services. Rev. E.
V. Belles, First Presbyterian pastor, was the principal speaker, the program being in charge of Rev. H. Erwin Stafford, pastor of the Church of Christ.

The young people were in charge of the evening worship in First Reformed Church with the pastor, Rev. A. W.
Snow, delivering a brief talk. Plans are now being made by St. John's Evangelical church for appropriate observance of Mother's Day. A feature of the program will be the appearance of the Boys' Choir organized by the pastor, Rev. Herbert L. Hyster and directed by Mrs. Ed. Fink. The choir made its first public appearance at sunrise services Easter Sunday in the church.

WILL ARRANGE FOR FLAG PRESENTATION

Final arrangements will be made for presenting a flag to Forest Lawn School and other important business transacted at the regular meeting of Cooper
Woman's Relief Corps, No. 194, Tuesday afternoon at I. O. O. F. Hall, N.
Main-st. Mrs. Minnie Blow's group will be in charge of the social hour.

this indicates sluggish kidneys and

Meditations
OF A Married
Woman

—BY HELEN ROWLAND

IN the good old days, B. F. (Before Feminism), this used to be "a man's world"—but now it is rapidly becoming a man's HEAVEN!

Every new fad or "reform" from petting parties to Companionate Marriage, makes life softer, sweeter and easier for the men, and sadder for the women. But of all the quaint conceits and devices yet suggested for man's delight, the most altruistic is that of Companionate Marriage!

Girls are no longer sold in marriage, like chattels. No indeed! They GIVE themselves away, like Food Show samples. On the "companionate" basis they would merely lease themselves for five or ten years, and then be willing to take themselves back again—and no charges for the service!

A grand and glorious idea of man's BY a man and FOR the men! All the honors and joys and delights of marriage with none of its ties, responsibilities or duties!

A brand new "this year's model" wife, every few years—and a chance to "junk
the old wreck" without benefit of lawyers. No alimony, no heart-balm and not even her carfare back to Mother!

Gorgeous—for the man. But how about the WOMEN?

If marriage is to be just a little joyride instead of a life-journey, the altar will be merely the first station on the Primrose Path for the average man.
And about the last way on earth to hold any man to you will be to marry him, and start him skidding.

And that won't suit any woman!
Every normal woman is a monogamist, by nature and by preference. Any other kind of woman is not a woman—she's a freak!

Every normal woman loves just one man; and when she chooses a mate, he is likely to be the one she wants for life. She wants a home; she wants children; and above all, she wants her man to be "HER MAN," not just a five year loan!

It takes at least five years to turn a wild bachelor into a tame, home-broken husband. And after a girl has spent all that time polishing a man up, toning him down, extracting his vanity and putting his feet in mustard water, she doesn't feel like handing over the finished product to any fluky little thing to happen to admit the results of her handiwork. Oh no! Five or ten years of marriage make a man far more attractive and desirable—but they leave a woman just a little frayed and fragled and out of the running.

Marriage was designed to make two people ONE in their aims, hopes, work, play and ambitions—to weld them together.

Companionate marriage would make it a two-way to start and a four-way to the finish. Companionate marriage is a joke—and the joke is on the WOMAN!

Major League Pennant Races Breaking Back To Normalcy

PITTSBURGH PIRATES AND DETROIT TIGERS WIN FIRST CONTESTS

St. Louis Browns Continue To Be Sensation With No Defeats

New York, April 16—With Pittsburgh and Detroit finally breaking into the win column, the two pennant races began to get back to normalcy. These two clubs, rated as strong contenders in their respective leagues, got good pitching yesterday and may be counted upon to cause trouble from now on.

Poor twirling by their hurlers cost the champion Pirates their first three games, while the Tiger sluggers were stopped by unexpectedly effective pitching by the St. Louis mound star. The Browns continue to be the sensation of both leagues, with a record of four victories and no defeats.

Neither of the New York teams has lost a game. The Cleveland Indians suffered their first defeat of the season yesterday when Josh Billings, Detroit collegian, held them to five hits. Gehring drove in four runs and let hit mates to an 8 to 2 triumph.

Cohen Gets Homer
O'Doul and Cohen, the two prize rookies of the New York Giants, each hit a home run as the Giants swamped the Phillies, 8 to 1, and remained at the top of the National League ladder. Dutch Henry made the Phils behave while his mates treated Jimmy Ringas-Giant, to a first class shelling.

The St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the Cubs, 4 to 3, and held on to second place. Wee Willie Sherdel helped win his own game with a home run and Frank Frisch clouted a single, a triple and a homer, his third circuit clout of the season. Gabby Hartnett was the big noise for Chicago with three hits including a homer.

Grantham's double in the ninth gave Pittsburgh a 3 to 2 victory over the Reds. Dawson's pitching featured.

Brooklyn Wins
Brooklyn nosed out Boston, 3 to 2, on Ricca's triple in the sixth. Young Willie Clark of Sioux City and Brooklyn, abated Dutch Brandt, West Coast Duke in a Southpaw duel.

Sam Gray ex-Philadelphia star, hung up his second victory of the season as the St. Louis Browns stymied the White Sox, 4 to 1.

Firpo Marberry of the Senator also thrived in his second winning game, beating the Boston Red Sox by a 6 to 0 score. Gehrig hit a homer.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig each clouted a home run in an exhibition game with Baltimore, which the Yankees won, 6 to 2.

EAGLES OFFER CARD TONIGHT

AL DUNDEE MATCHED WITH TOLEDO BOXER IN MAIN GO BATTLE

Two Marion Maulers Slated in Preliminary Bouts Starting at 8:15

BY KARL R. M'ELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

Tonight the Marion Eagles Lodge will make another spurge in the ancient if not honorable game of fast-cuffs when a 28-round card will be offered for the enlightenment of fans at their hall, W. Center-st.

Broadcasted here and there with high powered ballyho as the greatest thing attempted yet by the local promoters, eight fighters from cauliflower stables in Mansfield, Toledo and Marion will take part.

The first mix-up will get underway at 8:15 o'clock when Ray Snyder of Marion steps into the ring to face Gene Doyle of Mansfield. Snyder appeared once this season and made a pretty good showing for himself. This battle is slated to go six rounds.

Williams Favored
Although rather clumsy in his first appearance here at the last Eagles' fight, Harold Williams will be favored to win the second preliminary engagement from Freddie Dundee of Mansfield. The Marion boy, however, need not look forward to easy meat for Dundee is plenty fast.

Two main go battles have been scheduled, each slated for eight rounds. In the first Johnny Lee, that veteran Little Mansfield mauler, will meet Sammy Lupica of Toledo. Followers of the squared circle perhaps have heard much about these two boys at one time or other. The fight will bring together two fast mixers.

Al Features Card
The feature battle that will windup the card and the best of the two main go bouts offered, will find Al Dundee of Mansfield tackling K. O. Morgan of Toledo. My tackling I do not mean that this bout is expected to be a football game or a wrestling match. Quite the contrary.

Mr. Dundee has fought in Marion many times while the kayce kid will make his first appearance here. Dundee has established a reputation of being a knockout artist and will make a desperate attempt to win this match by that method.

Morgan has made quite a name for himself in northern Ohio circles, especially around Toledo where he makes his home most of the time. He is said to be nearing the top of the ham and egg class.

Cobb, Ruth Slipping

Sport Critics Say That Famous Old Hitter and Fielder Is Making Last Stand in Major League; Babe Not So Fast This Year

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 16—They are ringing the curfew on old Ty Cobb over in Philadelphia, which may be quite according to script with everybody except old Ty Cobb and the man who is paying him $30,000 to help him prove that this will be his last season in competition. However, the part that isn't in the act is the accompanying innuendo that George H. Ruth himself is no longer himself, if you will pardon my hangnail. He is alleged to have given unmistakable signs of slowing up in the field and on the bases.

My understanding of the judgment on Ruth is that it originated with Miller Huggins, the latter being alleged to have popped off to the general effect quoted above while the Yankees were in St. Petersburg. It is to be hoped that the good Miller is responsible, for I note that several critics of baseball now have assumed the responsibility for discovering that Ruth has started toward an adjacent exit and, somehow, I always seem to have a cracked lip at critical junctures like that.

It probably isn't good taste to argue an opinion of this kind with a man like Huggins, except to inquire just what magic he used in discovering that a player had slipped because of his performances in March. Training camp form, reading both from front and rear, always is to be discounted, if you credit all you hear.

Therefore, are we to believe that Ruth showed Huggins he was beginning to go during the 1927 season or in the 1927 World Series? If so, it must have been one of those private pre-viewers the movie go in for. Ruth seemed to be doing right well when they closed the books for the fiscal year in question.

However, if Huggins said so, maybe it is so. This will be the only break in sight for the discerning critics, in case the great man blows himself to a big rear. For, outside of practical baseball men, the ability to tell when a player has slipped is largely confined to those who are able to see them picking the poor fellow up out of the dirt and bearing him tenderly away.

That, apparently, is what they are making ready to do with the great Cobb. Reports on his decadence are almost unanimous. One writer declared the opening

STANFORD ACKLEY ELECTED SECRETARY OF GRAPPLERS' CLUB

Marion County Athlete Presented Trophy at Ohio State University

Columbus, April 16—Stanford G. Ackley, of near Marion, was named secretary of the Ohio State Grappling Club, held last week at the university.

The Grapplers' Club which was just recently recognized by the Student Senate as a campus activity was formed for the purpose of advancing interest in wrestling at Ohio State. All wrestlers receiving a varsity "O" award or who have tried out for the sport for three years are eligible for membership.

At the close of the initial meeting, Ackley was presented with a trophy in recognition of his work in securing the state points of any member of the Ohio State squad during the past season. He wrestled in a regular berth of the 175-pound class and was not defeated in any of the Big Ten Conference meets this year.

Division Heads in Drive for Y. M. C. A., Boy Scout Fund Name Lists of Assistants

Preparations Well Under Way for Campaign Scheduled To Start Next Monday Night; Headquarters Opened

Work from tonight the Y. M. C. A. division heads will open the campaign with a dinner and workers' conference. This will be the first meeting of the completed organization, School Superintendent J. H. Mason, general chairman, will preside. The general plan of campaign will be outlined, the workers provided with supplies, and at the close of the meeting will make selections of their prospect cards.

The campaign headquarters, on the corner of the Y. M. C. A. building, is a busy scene where preliminary work is rapidly being completed and a list of the campaign detail is being worked out in readiness for the opening meeting.

The various divisions have selected their names and a predominant spirit of enthusiasm is already manifest on the part of the team captains.

The major of the first division, C. H. Italy, has selected the name "Yeast Gang." Major Italy's side is F. O. Rudolph and his captains are V. C. Smith, J. Woods, J. L. Llewellyn, E. Seiter and E. L. Merchant.

Van Atta's Division

Major A. A. Van Atta's division has chosen the name "Bull Dogs." Major Van Atta's side is W. C. Brown and the captains of the division are J. P. Thatcher, H. Waddell, C. C. Dickson, J. W. Clements and T. M. Cunningham.

Major M. L. McDaniel's division will be known as the "Wizards." Major McDaniel has as his side, J. H. Clark and his captains are R. Waddell, C. B. Kerr, J. Maish, G. F. Larie and R. E. Grubbs.

Major A. W. Kette's division is called the "Wild Cats." His side is J. J. Stafford, and his captains are N. J. Locke, E. C. Seifert, R. Suarez, C. Wattrous, and R. G. Williamson.

OHIO COAL OPERATORS TO FIGHT COURT RULE

Cleveland, April 16—Ohio operators will carry the coal rate fight to the United States Supreme Court, it was predicted today by H. L. Findlay, vice president of the Y. & O. Coal Co.

"The decision of the southern judges is no means final," Findlay stated, following the handing down of an opinion by Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte, N. C., that the Interstate Commerce Commission had acted without authority in restraining southern railroads from allowing a voluntary 20 cent per ton reduction to West Virginia operators. An injunction issued by the court prevents the commission from enforcing the order, it was said.

COOLIDGE IS FACING VOTE ON NICARAGUA

Insurgents and Democrats To Fight Naval Appropriation of $363,000,000

Washington, April 16—The Coolidge administration faced its first test vote in the Senate today on its Nicaraguan policy.

A group of Democrats and Insurgents, intent on forcing the withdrawal of American Marines from the Central American republic were ready to force the issue during consideration of the $363,000,000 naval appropriation bill. Senator Morris, Republican, of Nebraska, insurgent leader, was ready to offer an amendment, which would prohibit the use of any of the naval funds in Nicaragua. If adopted by the Senate, the amendment virtually would force the Navy Department to withdraw all marines and warships from Nicaragua.

There were indications, however, that the administration would muster enough Democratic votes to defeat the amendment. If the Democrats support it as a purely measure, its adoption would be assured.

D. A. R. "BLACKLIST" CHARGE MAIN ISSUE

Fight in Prospect as Annual Contest Gets Under Way

Washington, April 16—With Mrs. Helen Tullie Ballie's recent charge that the Daughters of the American Revolution maintain a "black-list" containing some of the country's most prominent names overshadowing every other issue, the thirty-seventh Continental Congress opened here today.

Some 4,000 delegates and alternates filled the Washington auditorium and filled the city with controversy which began with publication of the "blacklist" was manifest on the convention floor. Even the campaigning for the election of officers faded into insignificance except as to the beating the election would have on the one great issue.

Efforts of the leaders to keep the Ballie charges out of the deliberations of the Congress were expected to prove futile, and an open split was thought to be inevitable before adjournment next Saturday.

Mrs. Ballie, of Boston, executive secretary of the so-called D. A. R. committee of protest against the "blacklist" was neither a delegate or an alternate, but she will be present at the sessions as a spectator and leader of her forces within the Congress. She refused to divulge her plans today.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR KENTON WOMAN

Mrs. Hannah Van Arsdale, Former Marion Resident, Passes Away

Local Man's Impulse to "Look Back" Prevents Loss of Property in Fire

AN impulse of Bernard Rowe, 1085 Beaufort, to turn and glance back at the building in which he had parked his car a few minutes before, prevented destruction of a combination barn and garage at the Rowe home late last night, with the probable loss of a two automobiles and several horses.

Rowe had run his Chevrolet sedan in the building and after locking the doors started for the house. Just as he was about to open a rear door, he had an impulse to glance back and seeing a light, thought he had forgotten to turn off the electric lights.

Floods Car on Fire

As he opened the door, of the garage, he discovered his car in flames. Calling to other members of the family, he swung the doors open and pushed the car into the alley just as the flames were threatening the building. Firemen from the Central and No. 2 stations responded to a call sent in by members of the family and the fire was put out with chemicals after the top and part of the cushions had been destroyed. The fire is thought to have started from a defective wire.

Earlier in the evening firemen from the Central and No. 2 and No. 3 stations responded to a call sent in from the Fire Oil Co. station on N. State st., where gasoline which had overflowed from the tank on a Ford coupe belonging to Vera Finyard had caught fire. The blaze was put out before setting fire to the car.

BY LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Star Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Ruth Roland has confidence in the future. When a girl invests any part of her own fortune in making pictures it means that she is strong. And personally, I don't think Miss Roland, who has made thousands in wise real estate investments, is making a mistake.

There is a demand for two-reelers and you can be reasonably sure Miss Roland realized just what the financial returns would be before she planned to make twice two-reel novelty dramas.

Today, for the first time since Miss Roland's investments kept her busy, she will listen to the old familiar words, "Camera, lights."

"Love of the Law," the first of the series, goes into production at the Tec Art studios with Richard Thorpe handling the megaphone and Cliff Brroughton supervising.

Ben Bard, Theodore Von Eltz and Arthur Haskin will support her. Mr. Bard, whom rumor has engaged to Miss Roland for a long time, will be her leading man. Ruth plans, if the reels turn out well, to make a serial.

Prospect News Mrs. H. had as 6 o'clock dinner guests Thursday, Miss Grangeline Westenberg, of Holland, Ia., Miss Margaret Sites and Miss Esther Keller.

Miss Elizabeth Wottring, of New Holland, spent the week-end with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cheney and daughters, Lucile and Martha, motored to Massillon Saturday and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wild and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tibbitt and sons, Max and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Thomas and son, Merle, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Isler spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tibbitt.

Robert Windhorst and Claire Keller were visitors in Columbus Monday afternoon.

Rev. W. M. Keller returned to Mansfield Monday to represent the Continental Publishing Co., after a month's lay-off, due to injuries received in an accident in that city.

Ben Herberst of Central Seminary, Dayton, preached at the Reformed Church Thursday and Friday nights of last week.

Scout Executive Brown of Marion, came down Monday night to inspect Troop No. 7, of Prospect. He was accompanied by his son, Jerry.

Robert Hovner, of Columbus, spent Sunday at his home here.

Miss Evelyn Pace, who has been spending her vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. George Johnson, returned to her home in Cleveland, Sunday, before going she received a telegram that her parents and brother and sister were all ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Maize and son Billy, and Mrs. Adelaide Farnum, of Columbus, and Mrs. Harry Deavenport, of Medina, were Saturday guests at the C. P. Herr home.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral services of John Wynn last week, were Walter Wynn, Verne Day and Mr. and Mrs. George Rhoads, of Meeker; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Powell, of Marion; Mrs. Ida Boblenz and sons, Orville and Richard, of Agosta; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Roberts and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoffman, daughters, Pauline, Margaret, Elizabeth and son Harold, and Mrs. H. Wynn, of Richwood; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Jones T. R. Price and Misses Lizzie and Edith Price, of Radnor.

Miss Marion Herr returned to Heidelberg University Sunday after spending her vacation at home. She was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Herr.

Mrs. A. L. Gast was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Schaeffer, of Columbus from Friday until Sunday. While in Columbus she called upon Mrs. D. M. Bailey at White Grass Hospital and reports that she is getting along very nicely, after undergoing a serious gastric operation.

Dana Wexler of Bucyrus spent Easter with his family and his father and mother here. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wexler, Jr., of Bucyrus, were also Easter guests at the Wexler home.

Mrs. Theo Griffith and daughters, Betty and Katherine, spent Easter with Mrs. Griffith's sister, Mrs. O. J. Schaeffer, at Columbus.

Miss Florence Beavers, of Newton Falls, spent her vacation last week with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Beavers.

TO QUIT SERVICE Akron, April 15.—Interurban street car service between Akron and Canton was discontinued by the Northern Ohio Power & Light Co. Sunday, under permission granted recently by the State Public Utilities Commission. Revenue insufficient to support the line and pay the company's share of the paying between Canton and North Canton led to the abandonment. Bus service, operated by the N. O. P. will be increased to take place of the trolley service.

ONE of America's most energetic business men is about to try his luck making American pictures on German soil. I speak of Gil Boag, husband of Gilda Gray and one of the best publicity experts in captivity.

Gil is taking Flochus Gliese and Edgar Ulmer, both of whom assisted Murnau in making "Sunrise." They will direct "Love Never Dies," by Dr. Carl Vollmoeller, author of "The Miracle." In an earlier message, Gil says he will have an all-American cast, but will use German technique, thus creating an international picture. Gil's trip to Europe has another possible angle. What about Gilda Gray, the shimmy dancer, and Gil? Although both of them have stoutly denied a divorce—well, Paris isn't so far from Berlin and you can never tell these days, what is going to happen, matrimonial speaking.

SOONER or later we find our friends parked at Columbia studios. Probably because this company seems to turn out so many dramas that they require more players than the studios making fewer films.

Anita Stewart has joined the production and is playing in an Octavio Ruy Cohen story called "The Way of the Strong."

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random:

Twenty-five young women digging into ice cream at Beverly Bayne's luncheon to get a Japanese favor.

Harry Langdon being served afternoon tea by the neighbors while on location.

Evelyn Brent luncheon in an evening dress at the Paramount studio.

Fred Kohler in evening dress at the same place.

George Bancroft in common everyday workman's garb, all for a movie.

Adela Rogers St. John looking bride-like at the Bayne luncheon.

George O'Brien in a set of new whiskers. That's all today, thank you.

I DON'T think the wildest stretch of imagination could visualize Dorothy MacCallie as a Jewish girl. She is far too blonde and too English in appearance, but then, of course, I don't know the story of "Don't Ask," her next picture, following "The Whip" for First National.

I do know "Don't Ask" has been purchased for her and is the romantic story of a Jewish belle. Dorothy herself is enthusiastic over the chance for characterization it gives her. Probably anything would seem welcome after "The Whip."

TO QUIT SERVICE

Akron, April 15—Interurban street car service between Akron and Canton was discontinued by the Northern Ohio Power & Light Co. Sunday, under permission granted recently by the State Public Utilities Commission. Revenue insufficient to support the line and pay the company's share of the paving between Canton and North Canton led to the abandonment. Bus service, operated by the N. O. P., will be increased to take place of the trolley service.

The city of Vienna has the largest indoor swimming pool in Europe and one of the most up-to-date in the world.

PROSPECT BOY WINS TRACK MEET HONORS

Former Star of High School Is Headliner in West Virginia Contests

Prospect, April 10.—Earl "Tiny" Johnson, track star of the Prospect High School, easily outdistanced his opponents in both the shot put and discus throw, and established new records at the Parkersburg, W. Va., relays, held last Saturday. He put the shot 47 feet 13 1/2 inches and heaved the discus 120 feet 10 inches. The meet attracted athletes from high schools in Ohio, W. Va., Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and was the first real test in out-of-door competition for Johnson this year. His only other meet was the National Open Indoor held at Cleveland March 21, when he established an indoor record of 45 feet 9 1/2 inches. Robert Johnson placed fourth in the high hurdles against strong competition. Both will be entered in the Ohio Relays this weekend at Columbus.

HONORS AWARDED IN DECLAMATION EVENT

School Contest Won by Donna
Turner and Sherman Big-gerstaff

Donna Turner and Sherman Biggerstaff were awarded first honors in a declamation contest held at the Pleasant Township School auditorium, Friday night. The pupils were divided into two groups, the first comprising students of the first, second, third and fourth grades and the other of students of the four higher elementary grades. Miss Turner recited "Dead Poets" and Sherman Biggerstaff, "My Dad Can't See Your Dad." Second and third honors for the younger pupils were won by Loren Miller, who gave "My Father," and by Marie Hoopman who gave "In the Meadow." Second and third honors in group two were awarded Martha Miller, who gave "Mrs. Johnson's Best Cure," and Corrine Self, who gave "Mrs. Casey at the Electric Party."

Students winning first honors will be permitted to compete in a district contest to be held at the Claridon School Friday night, April 29. R. F. Fletcher, managing of the advertising department of The Star, served as judge.

Other students who spoke were Helen Woolley who gave "The Doll's Funeral," Annabelle Geyer, "Beautiful at Home," Vernon Uery, "Sister Best Feller," John Holliday, "His Highness," Hester Geyer, "Conscious Ignorance," Naomi Anley, "When the Teacher Gets Crossed," Isabelle Walker, "Jane Jones," and Denver Holliday, "Little Tommy's First Smoke."

The remainder of the recitations were given by students of group two: Marc Alice Nickelson, "Does Ma Wish She Were Pa?," Nellie Young, "Mrs. Smart Learns How To Skate," Irene Sommer, "In the Morning," Arthur Maur, "Jimmy Brown's Prompt Obolence," Mary Baker, "The Jolly Old Pedagogue," Margaret Holliday, "Sarah Jane's First Love Letter," and Robert Vaughan, "Sister's Best Feller."
